Born in Michigan in 1921, Laskey served in a combat unit in Europe and was among the troops that landed on Omaha Beach, early on D-Day, 1944. He studied at Indiana University and at the Institute of Design in Chicago (now the Illinois Institute of Technology) with founder and American Bauhaus pioneer Lászlò Moholy-Nagy. Currently, he divides his time between St. Louis and Manistee, Michigan and is a Professor Emeritus of Architecture at the Sam Fox School of Design & Visual Arts at Washington University in St. Louis.

In the New Media Room, the gallery presents a documentary by West-Coast-based filmmakers, David Wild and Lulu Gargiulo, on the life and work of Leslie Laskey, "Forty-Seven Views of Leslie Laskey". Shot over an eleven-year period, "Forty-Seven Views of Leslie Laskey" is a chronicle of the artist, poet and legendary teacher, Leslie J. Laskey.

Bruno David is pleased to present Metropolis, Mark Travers's first solo exhibition with the gallery. In conjunction with the exhibition, Bruno David Gallery Publications will publish a catalog of the artist's work with an exhibition history and bibliography.

Mark Travers's Metropolis embodies precision, elegance and geometric rigor. Travers creates abstract references to architecture, street grids and other aspects of urban life. As a painter, he is interested in light and its translucence through the layering of opaque paints and varnishes. His technique creates an ethereal, visual 'shift,' reminiscent of light shining through stained glass, almost as if a doorway or window has opened to a new, other-worldly dimension.

Travers earned a BFA from Washington University in St. Louis and an MFA from Pratt Institute in New York, laying the groundwork for a long and substantial career in advertising, public relations and public affairs. His considerable skills transferred across numerous and wide-ranging industries, culminating in the establishment and management of his own advertising agency in St. Louis. He lives and works in St. Louis.
